Resolume Arena is a powerful and professional tool that allows you to combine audio and video material in order to create high quality visuals for outdoor and indoor shows. It's a very well suited application if you're a performer that wants to add high definition video to audio output. It offers automatic beat matching which enables you to mix multiple tracks together and overlap the visuals. The interface of Resolume Arena isn't that of any usual application though it has a lot of similarities to audio production and video editing tools. This doesn't mean that the application is hard to use, that's not the case, but you do need to read the manual and put together a few project before you start to get a handle on how you can obtain the best results. And even so, with the large amount effects, features and tools that it offers, it can still surprise you when you think you know everything. Like with any other multimedia project, you first add the files that make up the projects. Resolume Arena offers you a classic built-in file browser that lets you easily locate videos and tracks on your computer and allows you to insert them using a simple drag and drop action. Since the application is aimed to deliver impressive live performances it focuses on providing quick access to audio and video effects. The changes can be applied to the entire composition or to a selected layer. For any clip you load, it's possible to rotate it, change its opacity, scale and position. To be able to do this while overlapping multiple videos, Resolume Arena doesn't use an embedded video accelerator or enhancer to help you out but instead it relies on your video card. Resolume Arena offers you a very large set of features which include MIDI and OSC compatibility, clip transitions, crossfading and DMX input. With the above to consider and much more to discover, Resolume Arena is truly a powerful video and audio mixing application that can certainly help create outstanding performances.
