Moreover, in the 'Personal Library' section, you can see your current assets (including objects, texture, etc.). A step-by-step guided design process In the actual design planning process, the app is built in a step-by-step system that allows users to stay organized with their projects and how they choose to organize their workflow. As such, even if you are a beginner with design planning or if you are using this app for the first time, chances are you will be able to maintain a clean, organized workflow. The design stages and what they consist of You start with 'Draw Floor Plan;' this is a section where you must configure the room/space's layout, place the windows and doors, adjust the walls, define the spaces of the apartment, and configure each section's parameters (e.g. floor thickness, area, level, etc.). In the second step, the 'Place Models' section, you can add textures, furniture objects, define their length, height above the floor, right angle placement, etc. Moreover, for each object you add to the design model, you can use the dedicated editor to perform adjustments. Finally, in the 'Render' section, you granularly configure your spaces' details (e.g. room names, wall-size lines, 2D or 3D preview, etc.) and exactly what you want to include in the final render. Moreover, you can submit for rendering different models (e.g.
