The Administration and Acute Care Surgery Section (ACS) plays a central role in the management of patients with a variety of surgical disorders, including traumatic injuries, acute appendicitis, aneurysmal diseases, abdominal emergencies and elective procedures. ACS is a newly formed section of the Section of Surgery, a division of the Department of Surgery, at the New England Medical Center. There are approximately 18 board-certified surgeons that are members of the ACS, and approximately 200 resident surgeons and residents in training. There are a large number of active surgeons that are not members of the ACS, but provide a significant amount of surgical care to patients in the Greater Boston area. Thus, the ACS has a large number of patients with surgical disorders. ACS has a strong core of basic scientists who support the clinical research activities of the ACS. Revised Drawings with Digital Scales: Drawings with scaling objects now use the smaller sized EPS scale values, simplifying the way you work. Support for Google, Amazon, and NEMA 3-15 applications: EPS, PDF, and DWG files can be opened in AutoCAD through the applications installed on your PC. Designers can open drawings in Google, Amazon, and NEMA 3-15 applications. New Color System: A new color system makes it easier for you to create and use colors in your drawings.
