==== Do whatever you want with keyboard shortcuts, and without touching the mouse. Create keyboard macros using standard Windows functions, like "CTRL + C", "CTRL + V", or "CTRL + Z". Create as many keyboard macros as you want, assign them to any key on your keyboard, and use them as often as you want. You can even add "CTRL + MouseClick" as a keyboard shortcut to "Switch Windows". On top of that, macros have some powerful features that let you manipulate the keyboard in special ways, like launch a program, run a function, paste a link, or create a new bookmark.
